What is a Renewable Energy Credit (REC)?

- 1 MWh (megawatt hour) produced by a renewable energy source equals 1 REC
- RECs are also called Green Tags
- RECs represent the valuable renewable attributes of wind energy

How much does it cost?

$5 per MWh.

Example: The average home in our service territory uses 800 kWh per month. Participating in the REC program would add $4.00 to your monthly bill.

Where do the RECs come from?

The RECs come from several wind farms in the region that supply renewable energy to Butte Electric. These include, but are not limited to:

- North Dakota: PrairieWinds 1, Wilton 1 & 2, Baldwin Wind Project and Minot Wind Project
- South Dakota: Crow Lake Wind, the Chamberlain turbines, Day County Wind Farm and South Dakota Wind Project

For your Home

With the REC program, you can reduce your family's footprint at home without having to install solar panels or other renewable energy systems.

For your Business

By purchasing RECs, your business could add value to your products or services, promote future regional renewable projects and showcase your support for renewable energy sources.

We make it easy

Using renewable energy has never been easier. You will be billed monthly based on the kWhs used. The additional charge will appear on your normal monthly electric statement.

You won't need any special equipment either. Butte Electric Cooperative will continue to fulfill all your electric needs while you can enjoy the benefits of renewable energy.
